
About the authors

Vyacheslav B. Amirov (Russia) is a Senior Research Fellow at the Centre for Japanese and Pacific Studies in the Institute of World Economy and International Relations (IMEMO) of the Russian Academy of Sciences in Moscow. His recent publications include 'Republic Korea: economic relations with Japan and the United States', in Korean Peninsula in Northern Asian Regional Affairs (Moscow, 1997, in English); 'Russia's policy towards Central Asian newly independent states' (Paper presented at the international conference on post-Communist states, Melbourne, Australia, 1998); and 'Strany ACEAN: raznye puti vykhoda iz krizisa' [ASEAN: different ways out of the crisis], in Mezhdunarodny Finansovy Krizis: Novy Etap Globalnogo Ekonomicheskogo Razvitiya? [International financial crisis: a new stage of global economic development?] (Moscow, 1999).

Vladimir Baranovsky (Russia) is a Deputy Director of IMEMO and was previously SIPRI Project Leader on Russia's Security Agenda in Europe. He edited the SIPRI volume Russia and Europe: The Emerging Security Agenda (1997) and has contributed successive chapters to the SIPRI Yearbook.

Vyacheslav Belokrenitsky (Russia) is Head of the Near and Middle East Department in the Institute of Oriental Studies (IOS) of the Russian Academy of Sciences and Professor at the Moscow State Institute of International Relations (MGIMO). His recent publications include 'Russia and Greater Central Asia', Asian Survey, no. 12, 1994; 'The geopolitical vertical line in the heart of Asia', Pro et Contra, no. 2, 1997; and 'Russia and the "Islamic Triangle": Afghanistan, Iran, Pakistan', Limes, no. 4, 1998.

Chen Qimao (China) is Professor at the Shanghai Institute of International Affairs and President of the Shanghai Society of International Relations. His recent publications include 'The Taiwan Strait crisis: its crux and solutions', Asian Survey, no. 11, 1996; 'China-Korean peninsula relations in the 21st century', SIIS Journal, no. 3, 1997; and (with Wei Yung) Relations Across the Taiwan Strait: Perspectives from Mainland China and Taiwan (Occasional paper by the US Atlantic Council, 1998).

Gennady Chuftrin (Russia), Associate Member of the Russian Academy of Sciences, is Leader of the SIPRI Project on Russia's Emerging Security Agenda and was previously Deputy Director and Head of Department at the IOS. He recently published Russian Foreign Policy in Asia-Pacific: Changing Objectives (Seoul, 1996); Weapon Sales in Moscow's Foreign Policy (Singapore, 1996); Security Concerns of Russia in Asia-Pacific (Wellington, New Zealand, 1997); and 'The Caspian Sea Basin: the security dimensions', SIPRI Yearbook 1999.

Alexander N. Fedorovsky (Russia) is Head of the Pacific Economy Section in IMEMO. His recent publications include 'South Korea's economic relations with Russia and China' and 'Inter-Korean economic relations: problems and prospects', both in Korean Peninsula in Northern Asian Regional Affairs (Moscow, 1997, in English); and 'Kim Dae-Jung Administration's unification policy and prospects for Russian–Korean relations’, Korean Journal of National Unification: An Annual Journal, 1998, pp. 85–100 (in English).

Tsuyoshi Hasegawa (USA) is currently Professor at the Department of History, University of California at Santa Barbara (USA). His publications include The Northern Territories Dispute and Russo-Japanese Relations (University of California, 1998, in 2 vols).

Joyce K. Kallgren (USA) is a former Associate Director of the Institute of East Asian Studies at the University of California at Berkeley, a member of the Executive Committee of the US Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia–Pacific and the Board of Directors of the National Committee of US–China relations, and editor of Asian Survey. Among her recent publications is Progress in the 20th Century: Problems in the 21st. East Asia’s Challenges for Japan (Hiroshima University, 1998).

Shannon Kile (USA) is a Researcher on the SIPRI Project on Russia’s Emerging Security Agenda. He has contributed chapters on nuclear arms control to most volumes of the SIPRI Yearbook since 1993 and is the author of a chapter in The Future of the Defence Industries in Central and Eastern Europe (SIPRI, 1994).

Andrew C. Kuchins (USA) is Associate Director of the Centre for International Security and Cooperation, Stanford University. His research interests include Russian foreign and security policy with an emphasis on Asia. He is at present completing a book entitled Russia and the World: Dilemmas of Power.

Vladimir I. Maksimenko (Russia), formerly Deputy Director of the IOS, is at present Senior Research Fellow at the IOS. His recent publications include ‘Kak myslit mir za predelami rosta?’ [How to see the world beyond the parameters of growth?], Vostok, no. 2, 1998; ‘Koordinaty sovremennosti’ [Coordinates of the modern world], Vostok, no. 4, 1998; and Fundamentalizm i Ekstremizm v Islame [Fundamentalism and extremism in Islam] (forthcoming).

Abbas Maleki (Iran) was formerly Deputy Foreign Minister and at present is Director of the International Institute for Caspian Studies in Tehran. He has published Silk and Spice Routes (Tehran, 1996); Oil and Gas in the Caspian: an Iranian Perspective (Paris, 1997); and America’s Footprint in Central Asia (Tehran, 1997). Privatisation: Path to Economic Development is forthcoming (all in English).

Vladimir Moskalenko (Russia) is Head of the Pakistan Section of the IOS and Professor at the Institute of Asian and African Studies, Moscow State University. His recent publications include ‘Pakistan: kurs ha Tsentralnuyu Asiyu’ [Pakistan: Central Asian policy], Vostok, no. 5, 1996; [Peace process in Afghanistan: the foreign powers’ responsibility] (Tehran, 1996, in Persian); (with T. Shaumian) ‘The nuclear weapons and New Delhi view’, Asia and Africa Today, no. 10, 1998; and (with T. Shaumian) ‘Rossiysko-indiyskiye otnosheniya i Pakistan’ [Russian–Indian relations and Pakistan], Rossiya i Indiya na Poroge Tretogo Tysachiletia [Russia and India on the threshold of the third millennium] (Moscow, 1998).

Victor Nadein-Raevsky (Russia) is Senior Research Fellow at IMEMO. He is the author of An Opinion on the Turkic Factor (Moscow, 1996, in English); Turtsiya i Rossiyskiye Avtonomii [Turkey and the Russian autonomies] (Moscow, 1997); and Panturkizm: k Istorii Voznikoveniya [Panturkism: towards a history of its development] (Moscow, 1998).

Vitaly V. Naumkin (Russia) is President of the Russian Centre for Strategic Research and International Studies, Head of the Arabic Department at the IOS and Editor-in-Chief of the journal Vostok, published by the Russian Academy of Sciences. His recent publications include (co-edited with I. Zviagelskaya) Ethnic History of Russia (Boulder, Colo., 1996); Ethnic Conflict in the Former Soviet Union (Moscow, 1997, in English); and Arms Trade in the Middle East (Moscow, 1997, in English).

Mikhail G. Nosov (Russia) is Deputy Director of the Institute of US and Canada Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences and the author of Challenges to the Strategic Balance in East Asia on the Eve of the 21st Century (Washington, DC, 1997); 'Yaponiya i vneshniy mir: vstupaya v mirovoye soobshchestvo' [Japan and the outside world: joining world society], Yaponiya v Poiske Novykh Rubezhey (Moscow, 1998); and 'Nad stranitsami yaponskoy vneshney politiki' [The pages of Japanese foreign policy] in Yaponiya: Perevorachivaya Stranitsy [Japan: turning the pages] (Moscow, 1998).

Martha Brill Olcott (USA) is a Senior Associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and Professor of Political Science at Colgate University. Her recent publications include Democratisation and the Growth of Political Participation in Kazakhstan (Cambridge, 1997); 'The Central Asian states: an overview of five years of independence', Demokratizatsiya, no. 4, 1997 (in English); and 'The Caspian's false promise', Foreign Policy, summer 1998.

Mouzaffar Olimov (Tajikistan), a Professor at the Tajik State National University and Director of the SHARQ non-government research centre, is co-editor of Problemy Vyzhivaniya i Ustoychivogo Razvitiya Tadjikistana [Problems of the survival and sustainable development of Tajikistan] (Dushanbe, 1996); (with S. Olimova) Regionalism in Tajikistan: its Impact on Fergana Valley (Washington, DC, 1996); and Mezhtadjikskiy Konflikt: Put k Miru [Inter-Tajik conflict: the road to peace] (Moscow, 1998).

Igor V. Podberezsky (Russia) is a Leading Research Fellow at IMEMO. His research interests are focused on civilizational problems, religion, culture and literature. His recent publications include Byt Protestantom v Rossii [Being a Protestant in Russia] (Moscow, 1996); and 'Zakon nichego ne dovel do sovershenstva' [The law has perfected nothing], Christian Word, no. 1, 1998.

Jonathan D. Pollack (USA) is Senior Adviser in International Policy at the RAND Corporation, Santa Monica, California. His recent publications include Designing a New American Security Strategy for Asia (1996); Engaging China in the International Export Control Process: Options for US Policy (co-author, 1997); and Preparing for Korean Unification: Scenarios and Implications (senior author, 1999).

Sang-Woo Rhee (South Korea), Professor at Sogang University, Seoul, is Chairman of the Yoido Society for New Asia. His recent publications include Unification for Co-prosperity (Seoul, 1996); Introduction to North Korean Politics (Seoul, 1997); Korea and East Asia in the 21st Century (Seoul, 1998); and Contemporary Theories of International Relations (3rd edn, Seoul, 1999).

Duygu Bazoglu Sezer (Turkey) is Professor of International Studies at Bilkent University, Ankara. Between 1989 and 1997 she lectured at the NATO Defence College in Rome. Her recent publications include 'Russia and the South: Central Asia and the Southern Caucasus', European Security, summer 1996; Turkey in the Security Environment in the Balkans and Black Sea Region (Boulder, Colo., 1996); and 'From hegemony to pluralism: changing politics of the Black Sea', SAIS Review, winter 1997.

Tatiana Shaumian (Russia), Deputy Head of the Centre for Indian Studies, IOS, has published 'Indiysko-kitayskiye otnosheniya: ot konflikta k poiskam pytei sotrudnichestva' [Indo-Chinese relations: from confrontation to cooperation], in Regionalnye Konflikty v Azii i Severnoy Afrike [Regional conflicts in Asia and North Africa] (Moscow, 1997); 'The new is well forgotten old', Asia and Africa Today, no. 7, 1997; (with V. Moskalenko) 'The nuclear weapons and New Delhi view', Asia and Africa Today, no. 10, 1997; and Foreign Policy Perspectives of the Central Asian States (London, 1998).

Vinay Shukla (India) is the Moscow correspondent of the Press Trust of India news agency. He publishes widely on Russian and Central Asian developments in the Indian press, has translated over 30 Russian classics, and is currently completing a book entitled From Brezhnev's USSR to Yeltsin's Russia.

Nodari Simonia (Russia) is an Academician (full Member) of the Russian Academy of Sciences, a Deputy Director of IMEMO, Director of the Centre for Comparative Studies of Russia and Developing Countries, and a member of the Scientific Council at the Russian Foreign Ministry. He is the author of 17 books and over 190 articles. Among his recent publications are 'Krakh bipolyarnoy struktury mirovogo soobshchestva' [Crash of the bipolar structure and its implications for the future world order] in Rossiya i Yug: Vozmozhnosti i Predely Vzaimodeystviya [Russia and the South: possibilities of and limits to cooperation] (Moscow, 1996); 'Natsionalizm v Azii, Afrike i Latinskoy Amerike' [Nationalism in Asia, Africa and Latin America], Moskovskoye Vostokovedeniye: Ocherki, Issledovaniya, Razrabotki [Moscow oriental studies: essays, investigations and reviews] (Moscow, 1997); and 'Gosudarstvo i razvitiye' [The state and development], Mirovaya Ekonomika i Mezhdunarodnye Otnosheniya, no. 12, 1998.

Victor Sumsy (Russia) is Head of Section at IMEMO. His recent publications include 'Antipolitika i antiekonomika: zametki o politizatsii v Rossii' [Anti-politics and anti-economics: notes on the politicization of Russia], Rubezhi, no. 9, 1996; 'Armiya i problematika grazhdanskogo obshchestva' [The army and the problems of civil society], Mirovaya Ekonomika i Mezhdunarodnye Otnosheniya, no. 2, 1997; and 'Gosudarstvo, finansovo-promyshlennyye gruppy i krizis v Indonezii' [The state, financial-industrial groups and crisis in Indonesia] (Moscow, 1998).

Konstantin Syroezhkin (Kazakhstan) is Professor of Political Science and Deputy Director at the Kazakhstan Institute of Strategic Studies. His recent publications include Reglamentatsiya Mezhethnicheskikh Otnoshenii v KNR: Teorii i Praktika [Management of inter-ethnic relations in the PRC: theories and practice] (Moscow, 1997); Sovremenny Sintsyan i ego Mesto v Kazakhstanskogo-Kitayskikh Otnosheniyakh [Modern Xinjiang and its place in relations between China and Kazakhstan] (Almaty, 1997); and 'Finansovy krizis v Yugo-Vostochnoy Azii: istoki i uroki' [Financial crisis in South-East Asia: sources and lessons], Kazakhstan-Spektr, no. 3, 1998.

Yuri V. Tsyganov (Russia) is Research Associate at the Contemporary Europe Research Centre in the University of Melbourne, Australia. He recently published Taiwan v Strukturu Regionalnoy Bezopasnosti Vostochnoy Azii [Taiwan in the regional security structures of East Asia] (Moscow, 1998); 'Clans and pressure groups in contemporary Russian politics', ed. L. Holmes, The Russian Crisis and Its Impact on Australia (University of Melbourne, 1998); and 'Ekonomicheskiye reformy v KNR i modernizatsiya NOAK' [The PRC's economic reforms and PLA modernization], Mirovaya Ekonomika i Mezhdunarodnye Otnosheniya, no. 12, 1998.

Alexei Zagorsky (Russia) is a Leading Research Fellow at IMEMO. His recent publications include Korean Peninsula in Northeast Asian Regional Affairs (Moscow, 1997); Justice and Law in Settling the Russian–Japanese Territorial Dispute (Tsukuba, 1996); Russian Strategic Nuclear Policy after the Collapse of the USSR (1992–1994) (Tokyo, 1997); and Russian Policy in Northeast Asia in Search of Accommodation (Moscow, 1998).

Irina D. Zviagelskaya (Russia) is Vice-President of the Russian Centre for Strategic Research and International Studies and Head of Section, IOS. Her recent publications include Ethnic History of Russia (co-edited with V. Naumkin) (Boulder, Colo., 1996); The Tajik Conflict (Moscow, 1997); What Can be Learned from Conflict Management in the CIS? (Baden-Baden, 1998); and 'The Tajikistan conflict', SIPRI Yearbook 1999.